

Single Licence

The Single Domestic Use Video Licence is designed for people who want to capture life's special moments and set them to music. Giving you permission to use music in a video of a single event such as a wedding, birthday, or holiday and to make copies for your friends and family.

It's important to note that the licence does not include sharing on social media or other third-party platforms.

Specific terms and restrictions are set out on the licences.

Annual Licence

The Annual Domestic Use Video Licence is for videographers and businesses that use music in videos of weddings, birthdays, funerals, and other private events where videos are made solely for the purpose of domestic viewing by your clients.

You to make up to 30 copies of an unlimited number of events over the year, with an additional option to make the videos available to clients through your password protected website.

“ Music touches the lives of people across the globe. The licence fees businesses pay to play music recognise the value of music, and the huge amount of time, craft and money it takes to create it.

Iva Lamkum.
Artist and Songwriter.

What does a OneMusic licence mean to your business?

- 1 Permission. When you use music that is protected by copyright in your business, New Zealand law requires permission (a licence) from the creators.
- 2 It shows your business respects and supports those who create the music you and your clients wish to use.

Your OneMusic licence gives you permission to use essentially all commercially released music from here and around the world.

The music we consume every day is made available to us for personal or domestic use only. When you use music in your business, legally this is considered a public performance.

Check us out: Check the terms and conditions on your CDs and online. You'll find statements like “personal use only” or “not authorised for public performance”.

You can also make checks about the authenticity of our rights here:

We've done the hard work for you

Instead of you having to contact and get permission from every songwriter, composer, publisher, recording artist and record label, for every single song you use – you get a licence with us.

What is the Copyright Act?

The Copyright Act 1994 grants music creators exclusive rights over how their work is used, and provides a legal framework to enable them to earn a living from their art.

They are businesses too, and granting permission to businesses to use what they have created is one of the ways music creators earn an income.

New Zealand is not unique, and businesses in countries around the world also need to get permission or a licence for their music use.

Your OneMusic licence includes the right to use musical works from more than two million music creators worldwide.

Where does your licence fee go?

Your OneMusic licence fee is distributed by APRA AMCOS and Recorded Music NZ, who are the companies behind OneMusic. Each organisation has a commitment to their music creators and their own distribution policies.

Many music creators around the world earn an income by granting organisations, like ours, the right to collect and pay their royalties when a business uses the music they make.

When you hear about music royalties, that's what we do.

After minimal administration costs all money collected is paid to our local and international music creators as royalties. Find out more visit onemusicnz.com/distribution

FAQs

What types of events and videos are not covered under the licences? The OneMusic Domestic Use Video licences do not cover corporate, training or educational videos, promotional videos, films or short films, videos made for sale, or videos of performances where the music has been licensed through an APRA Dramatic Context licence or a music publisher (including Grand Right Works such as Cats, or Phantom of the Opera).

How can I use the videos online? The licences cover you for sharing the videos on your password protected website. The licence does not allow you to share the videos on social media, video sharing websites or any other third party website.

Do I have to go through OneMusic to use music in my videos? When it comes to using the largest possible music collection, Yes.

The OneMusic licence is your best protection from being found to be infringing copyright for using unlicensed music in your business. There are other options, like direct licensing arrangements with copyright owners, or solely using music outside our repertoire.

Your OneMusic licence provides the easiest and most cost-effective way to access the vast majority of the world's repertoire of music.

How it works

1. Businesses get a OneMusic licence

You gain the legal permission needed to play our music in your business.

2. Music creators get paid royalties

Your licence fee is distributed by APRA AMCOS and Recorded Music NZ.

3. Businesses play music

Music enhances your business, and you benefit by entertaining staff and customers.

4. Music creators keep making music

Crafting music takes time, money and creativity, and your licence is part of the process.
